

Control and Cybernetics

VOL. 21 (1992) No. 2

CONTENTS

SPIS TREŚCI

СОДЕРЖАНИЕ

Editorial	3
Preface and Acknowledgments	7
I. The Background for Analysis
Andrzej Straszak	13
The Background for Transition: the Case of Poland
Jan W. Owsiniński	23
A Metaphoric System of Economy
John-Paul Leonard	31
The Possibility of a Soft Revolution
II. Economies in Transition: Their Situations and Their Models
Teet Rajasalu	51
The Estonian Economy and Its Development Problems
Peter Fleissner and Gudrun Krüger	67
Simulated Economic and Social Futures of the Late German Democratic Republic by Means of a System Dynamics Model
Bui Cong Buong	85
Vietnam, A Hybrid Transitional Model

III. The Sectoral View

Jan Gadomski	105
Production in a Non-Market Economy
Peter Moore	131
Restructuring State-Owned Major Industries: A Comparative View
Janusz Babarowski, Zbigniew Nahorski and Andrzej Straszak	149
Oil Prices and Unemployment Relationships
Jan Gadomski, Cezary Iwański and Piotr Wyczański	169
Forecasting the Polish Zloty/US Dollar Free Market Exchange
Koloman Ivanička	179
A Simulation Model of Development of a Group of Companies

IV. Modelling and Analysis of Election Systems

Frantisek Turnovec	193
Power Distribution in Czecho-Slovak Parliaments
Jacek Mercik	207
Voting Procedure Characteristics
Jan W. Owsiniński and Sławomir Zadrozny	217
Micropolitical Behaviour: the Case of Polish Parliamentary Elections of 1991	